SINGAPORE COOPERATION PROGRAMME

under the

SINGAPORE COOPERATION PROGRAMME TRAINING AWARD

to be conducted by

NATIONAL UNIVERSITY OF SINGAPORE, CENTRE FOR NATURE-BASED CLIMATE SOLUTIONS

Singapore Cooperation Programme

Singapore has provided technical assistance to other developing countries since the 1960s. As a country whose only resource is its people, Singapore believes that human resource development is vital for economic and social progress. Singapore itself has benefited from training provided by other countries and international organisations.

In 1992, the Singapore Cooperation Programme (SCP) was established to bring together under one framework the various technical assistance programmes offered by Singapore. Through the SCP, the range and number of training programmes were increased to share Singapore's development experience with other developing countries.

To date, more than 150,000 officials from more than 180 countries, territories, and intergovernmental organisations have participated in our courses and study visits. The SCP is managed by the Technical Cooperation Directorate of the Ministry of Foreign Affairs, Singapore.

National University of Singapore, Centre for Nature-based Climate Solutions (NUS - CNCS)

NUS-CNCS is a leading research hub in Singapore, dedicated to addressing climate change through nature-based solutions. The Centre focuses on producing policy-relevant science to protect and manage natural ecosystems, such as forests, coastal areas, and urban green spaces. CNCS's research spans several key areas, including terrestrial and marine ecosystems, biodiversity, climate finance, and carbon estimation. By leveraging advanced technologies like remote sensing and spatial analysis, the Centre aims to develop innovative strategies for carbon sequestration and ecosystem conservation.

The Centre's mission is to empower society to respond effectively to climate change challenges by providing world-class research and thought leadership. Through interdisciplinary collaboration, its Continuing Education and Training team brings together experts from both academia and industry to offer in-depth training courses in Climate Change, Sustainability, and Carbon Markets.
