November 28-29

Chandigarh is one of the most significant urban planning experiments of the 20th century designed by French architect-planner Le Corbusier. India's first Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru had even remarked "Let this be a new town symbolic of the freedom of the India unfettered by the traditions of the past, an expression of the nation's faith in the future..."

Chandigarh & Surroundings like Kasuli Hills, Morni Hills, Napeli Forest, Kansal Forest, Toy Train to Shimla & many more ... offers bonanza for tourists. November weather is ideal for holidaying around Chandigarh. That is why NATCOM has been planned in this month so that delegates can plan an exciting holiday after NATCOM-2014 with families.

IMPORTANCE OF THE NATCOM-2014 THEME

Supply Chain Challenges in Rapidly Changing Global Scenario

Every sunrise is followed by sunset and vice-versa. So is the case with global economy. The cycle of economic boom & depression has its own pattern. Besides, socio-political situations and hazards of nature create its own impact on global economy.

“GOLD FADES, METALS RUST, AS COMMODITY PRICES GO DOWNHILL” - was a news item heading in The Economic Times, some time ago. First para of the news gives in nut-shell health of the world economy, from time to time (India included). It makes interesting reading : “Gold has lost its glitter, the nerves of steel are fraying, and the rust is fast setting on base metals, crude is sharply fluctuating...” US economic health being not so good has hit the employment of youth badly. Recent Russian intervention in Ukraine has hit gas supplies to Europe ; EU banning acceptance of Indian Alfanzo Mangos in the peak season has hit the growers in India and mouth watering taste buds in Europe. 2014 Indian election results made Sensex jump to all time high of 25000. China dominates world trade at over 6% share, India struggling @ about 1%. India losing about 10% of agro-horticulture produce annually, due to mismatch of storage & transportation, whereas the rich countries give handsome farm produce subsidies. WTO regime, carbon credits and several other issues, making the global business highly complicated and competitive.

All the above situations and on positive side information technology, communication revolution, new technologies in Supply Chain systems like RFID, destructive technology like usage of Drone Missile for improving speed of delivery as envisaged by Amazon, and many more, have thrown new challenges in the arena of Supply Chain Management.

The two days of NATCOM-2014 would throw a bonanza of knowledge and wisdom from nationally & internationally acclaimed Speakers to appropriately and widely cover the theme : Supply Chain Challenges in Rapidly Changing Global Scenario .

ABOUT CHANDIGARH BRANCH

Chandigarh Branch is one of the most vibrant branch of IIMM. The branch has around 300 active Materials Management Professionals as its members (life, full, associate & institutional), serving a broad spectrum of industry in Chandigarh, Punjab, Jammu & Kashmir, Himachal Pradesh & Haryana etc. The Branch was established in 1983 and is actively supporting the objectives & activities of IIMM, by imparting training to Materials Professionals for a better tomorrow. The branch celebrated its Silver Jubilee in 2009 in a big manner. Earlier Chandigarh Branch took the responsibility of conducting 'NATCOM 2007' which was a grand event in the history of the Branch and which was appreciated by one and all across the country. This year again the Chandigarh Branch has been awarded the responsibility of hosting the event 'NATCOM 2014' by the NHQ. .
