Dear Colleague,

I hope this letter finds you in excellent health and high spirits. It gives me great pleasure to share with you the recent inauguration of the National Centre for Law and Administration (NCLA) at the Lal Bahadur Shastri National Academy of Administration (LBSNAA) in the month of April, 2023. The NCLA was inaugurated by the former President of India, Sri Ram Nath Kovind, marking a significant milestone in our commitment to sharpening the legal acumen of civil servants and enhancing the competencies among officers.

The NCLA is dedicated to facilitating focused legal education and empowering civil servants with the necessary knowledge and skills for effective implementation of the latest legislations. We achieve this through various activities, including workshops on a wide range of legal subjects. These workshops serve to strengthen the knowledge of officers in dealing with sensitive issues and enable them to navigate the complexities of the legal landscape. Additionally, the NCLA curates courses ranging from 101 to 501 levels covering diverse issues of law. This comprehensive approach ensures that civil servants are equipped to handle the legal challenges they encounter in their roles.

I am also pleased to inform you that the NCLA has been publishing a monthly newsletter for the past two months, which I am delighted to share with you. Enclosed herewith, you will find copies of the newsletter for your reference and perusal. The newsletter offers valuable insights into the latest developments in the legal domain relevant to the civil service ecosystem. Furthermore, I would like to highlight that the newsletter is readily available on the NCLA website of LBSNAA. Anyone can also subscribe to it free of cost on our website to receive regular updates using nic email address (<http://centre.lbsnaa.gov.in/ncla/newsletter.html>).

In addition to these initiatives, I would like to extend an invitation to you to provide us with suggestions on how the NCLA can assist you in addressing the specific needs and challenges faced by your departments/State. We firmly believe that by leveraging our expertise and resources, we can offer substantial support in various areas, contributing to the overall effectiveness and efficiency of your operations.
