Dear Ma'am,

The National Commission for Women (NCW), as per its wide mandate to safeguard the legal and constitutional rights of women, has been taking various initiatives including training, capacity building and gender sensitization of various stakeholders and agencies important to uphold and safeguard the rights of women.

Considering the pivotal role of Protection Officers appointed under "Protection of Women from Domestic Violence Act, 2005", in addressing the issues faced by women suffering from domestic violence, NCW has conducted 5 day intensive training programs for Protections Officers/TOTs in collaboration with premier institutions like Lal Bahadur Shastri National Academy of Administration (LBSNAA), Mussoorie and Institute of Secretariat Training & Management (ISTM) New Delhi. Additionally NCW has also developed a Standardized Modular for training of Protection Officers in collaboration with LBSNAA, which was also shared with the participants as well as State Governments, so that such trainings can be expanded at larger scale in all States/UTs to strengthen the institution of Protection Officers to provide adequate support to the aggrieved women. Copy of Module is also available at NCW website www.ncw.nic.in.

NCW, therefore, requests you to appropriately take up this issue for conducting these 5 day training programs for Protection Officers on the lines of above mentioned Module developed by NCW, so that the capacities of Protection Officers can be strengthened from time to time. The Reports of these trainings may also be sent to the NCW on quarterly basis.

Yours Sincerely
Mishkin Gautam
